

For over 20 years, the National Hydrogen Association has been enabling hydrogen technology growth. NHA membership represents the forefront of hydrogen R&D, commercialization and public education. The NHA represents utilities, auto manufacturers, energy companies, industrial gas suppliers, start-ups, national laboratories, and universities.

Join the NHA and become part of the Largest Hydrogen Industry Association in the World.

DISCOVER THE BENEFITS

Easy Access

Every employee in your company will have easy access to information and staff time that is not available to the general public. This includes statistics, studies, presentation materials, policy and legislative analysis, messaging for marketing and staff to help you on virtually any issue.

Technical Resources

Your company will be directly connected to over 100 leading companies and indirectly to hundreds more. NHA members have instant access to an online database of contacts for NHA companies and thousands of individuals in the industry through the staff managed database. Whether your company is large or small, you can use these resources to reach the individual you need quickly.

Legitimacy

Saying “I’m a fellow member of the NHA” can be the perfect icebreaker to use when first contacting an NHA member or other company. It gives you legitimacy and often helps you find an open ear ready to listen to what you have to say.

Exposure

Every company can use more exposure. While the NHA is mostly concentrated in the U.S., NHA members operate all around the world. And nearly every company is selling in the global marketplace. Position your company in this valuable network by joining the NHA today.

Value

“It’s worth every penny.” This is the response that NHA Member Sandy Thomas, H2Gen Innovations, gave on being told his dues would be increasing as his company moved from the Small Business to Industry membership class.

We know dollars for membership are not easy to come by. But it’s worth it. Think of the expanded network that will help you to do your job more efficiently. Think of the NHA staff who can supplement your company’s resources. Think about the many projects that are developed between NHA member companies each year and how much cheaper membership is than hiring individual lobbyists.

We’re confident you will discover that the opportunities you get from NHA membership are worth several times the cost.
